Community Garden Grows at Studio Around the Corner

The Studio Around the Corner has begun its new "Garden Around the Corner," an organic vegetable garden on the grounds directly outside of the studio, located at 67 Main St., Brewster.

In cooperation with Cornell Cooperative Extension of Putnam County, Putnam Community Action Partnership, Longview School and the Brewster Public Library, the Studio will be working on providing fresh produce for the community.

The students at Longview will partake in a program titled "Seeds to Salad," in which they will plant, care for and harvest the ingredients necessary for a salad party in June. The rest of the garden will contain plants that will help support the families using the services of Putnam CAP.

"We will begin with the students from our weekly 'Community Connection' ESL program to get the ball rolling on the garden and with the help of Volunteers dig out space at the Studio Around the Corner for the new community garden.

Cornell co-op holding classes monthly this summer, we hope to encourage families in the area to grow their own gardens," said Judy Marano of the Studio Around the Corner.

The Studio will be creating a patio in the center of the garden with pavers engraved with supporters' names. Pavers are available for $100 apiece and can be purchased by contacting Marano at 845-363-8330 or emailing TOSCAC2010@gmail.com.
